

October 11, 2011 Tech Bunch for Lunch

Join us in Altavista as Virginia Technical Institute's Executive Director, Keith Harkins, presents "Rethinking Education: Working together to help our students, our communities, and our businesses".

Virginia Technical Institute, VTI, provides hands-on training in a variety of fields including electrical, plumbing, heating and air, welding, pipe-fitting, carpentry, masonry, multi-craft industrial maintenance, and project management. VTI hopes to include other education opportunities that will provide further training and certification. Unique to VTI is the leadership training that will further enhance students opportunities in the marketplace.
